Our Response to COVID-19

Council met Wednesday evening to consider the current state of Covid-19 virus and how best to care for our congregation during this time. Council decided in accordance with guidelines from the Center for Disease Control to refrain from all worship services and in-person meetings or activities through the entire month of April. Council will meet again on April 20 to reassess the situation and determine how we will proceed during the month of May.

In summary, the following are cancelled:

- In-person Sunday morning and Holy Week worship services, including Easter Breakfast and Easter Sunday Egg Hunt—but read below for information about online worship
- Bible studies and Sunday School—but read below for information about online Bible studies
- All committee meetings and groups (i.e. Dorcas Circle)
- Community Easter Egg Hunt
- The Gathering
- Choir and Children's Choir
- The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time Production (due to insufficient rehearsal time before June)

We lament with you that this happens during Holy Week and will prevent us from celebrating the resurrection of Christ in

Do Not Be Afraid

These are strange times in which we live. We're sequestered in our homes and everyone else we know is, too. You are only supposed to go out to the grocery store or other absolutely essential, critical things. Driving down the street, it sometimes feels like only you and 10 other people are awake because no one is on the roads. Parking lots and stores once full of activity are now empty. We gather together for worship online instead of in our sanctuary together. We can't visit those we love and have to keep our distance from even our dearest friends and closest relatives. This is life during the coronavirus.

It is strange. It is unsettling. It is eerie. And in the middle of the night when you slow down enough to let it sink in that it might be months before you work and have an income again or months before you see your relatives, but it maybe not too long before you yourself are hospitalized and no one will be able to be with you there, it is really scary.

Although we lament that we won't be able to gather together for Holy Week or Easter this year, Easter couldn't have come at a better time. For it precisely now during this epidemic that we most need the good news of Easter. Our gospel for Easter Sunday is Matthew 28:1-10. The women who gathered at Jesus' tomb were feeling afraid, too. The world without Jesus was strange, unsettling, eerie. To their surprise, they were visited by an angel and by Jesus himself on the road and told by both of them not to be afraid.

Jesus was alive! He had overcome death! That is still true, dear ones. This virus is scary because it brings up our mortality which may often feel far away. The good news of Easter is that Jesus has already overcome death! We need this good news more than ever because now more than ever perhaps we are ready to hear it and realize the difference it makes. Precisely when we are threatened by death Jesus says, "Do not be afraid! You have life in my name forever!"

We will need to adapt and find new ways to reach out to each other, new ways to love one another, new ways to be church together when the traditions of gathering together in person cannot be kept during the stay-at-home mandate. But we will figure it out together because Jesus is on the road with us, constantly speaking to our hearts, "Do not be afraid."

I am thankful to be on the road together with all of you and with our Lord. Do not be afraid, beloved.

In Christ,
Pastor Emily

BABY SHOWER POSTPONED

Due to the COVID-19 epidemic, the shower for Pastor Emily and baby Beckering will have to be a meet and greet after the arrival. If you would like to send a gift before baby arrives, you can check the registry at babylist.com/baby-emily-beckering. In case you hadn't heard, It's A Girl! (The registry is only in case you find it helpful—Pastor & family are grateful for any gifts you choose!)

person on April 12. Holy Week, however, honestly couldn't come at a better time, for it is precisely when we feel the most isolated and hopeless and trapped that we need the good news of Jesus' resurrection and his visit to us in our homes--which he will do!

Though we are not meeting in person, we are not stopping our work as the Church. Read through this newsletter, and you will discover all the work that is still being done and ways you can engage to still be the Church together. We are still worshipping, praying, and studying the Bible together online. We are making progress on our Capital Campaign projects. We are moving forward in our Music Director Search. When we do get to worship together once again, it will be in a lovely sanctuary with new flooring, and it will truly be a joyous celebration!

Here are ways that you can further the mission of our congregation this month:

- Watch and invite someone else to watch our online worship services which can be found at our website, stpaulreading.org, or on YouTube and Facebook. Maundy Thursday evening, Good Friday Noon 7 Last Words, Good Friday Evening Tenebrae, The Great Vigil Saturday Evening, Easter Sunday, and all Sundays in April
- Watch and post a response to our weekly Bible Study Sessions and invite a friend or family member to do the same! Bible studies can be found on our website at stpaulreading.org, or on YouTube and Facebook

- Stop what you're doing at Noon every-day to pray together--the topic for the day is posted on Facebook, and in this newsletter on page 11
- Call one another to check on each other—if this is of particular interest to you, then please let Pastor Emily know and she will include you in our new phone call ministry
- Take time to complete the survey on p. 8 of this newsletter about the Music Director to help our Search Committee listen for the Holy Spirit in our congregation and the future of our Worship and Music programming. If you are a choir member, please also complete the choir-specific survey on p. 9. Mail in your survey via US mail, or complete the electronic version which will be emailed to you
- Mail in your offering to church (mailbox checked daily and deposited weekly) or try mobile or online giving to continue to support our ministries. Look for “how-to” instructions on p. 4-5 of this newsletter and an instructional video created by Carroll Mayhugh on our website/YouTube

We are the Church and during this difficult time, we are the Church together. God is with you and so are we, albeit in new ways.

In Christ,
Pastor Emily Beckering

GivePlus How-To: On Our Website

During this time when we cannot gather together in person on Sunday, it may be an especially helpful time to check out our mobile and online giving options. Please visit stpaulreading.org/online-giving/ to try it! Look for the instructional video by Carroll Mayhugh on the giving page. Or, to download the mobile app, visit the Apple App Store or Google Play Store and search for “GivePlus Church”.

Thank you to all who are also mailing in their offering. Your funding of the mission of St. Paul's is greatly appreciated. We know that these extreme circumstances have brought changes in income for some—please do not put yourself or your family in financial hardship by giving your offering; God will provide. For those whose incomes have not been impacted and who are able to continue giving during this time, thank you for sharing your blessing and for being the agents through whom God provides.

From the Presiding Bishop: A Message to the Church

This is a transcript of Presiding Bishop Elizabeth Eaton's most recent video message to the church, dated March 28. The video is available at <https://youtu.be/XzrxzAPeu2g>.

Hello, dear church. For many of us we've just finished our first week of sheltering in place, though many of you have spent two or even three weeks with physical distancing. Let's admit: it's been a huge change, a disruption and it's hard. But it also has given us some time, perhaps, to observe things and notice things we never had before.

In this time, I want us to pay attention to the two readings that are coming up this Sunday, the fifth Sunday in Lent. One is from Ezekiel, and it's the story of the dry bones. In the story, the prophet stands before this desolate place of dust and dryness and death and sees no possibility for life. And then the Lord tells him to prophesy, and sure enough sinews and flesh come upon the bones, breath comes into them, "and they stood on their feet and lived." So will we.

In the Gospel according to John, we have the story of Lazarus, who has died. And Jesus comes four days later when any hope of resuscitation is impossible. But nevertheless Jesus speaks to Lazarus, calls him out of the tomb, and then he says something very interesting. He says to the people, "Unbind him and let him go." Jesus will call us out, has called us out, of the tomb and he speaks to us, saying to us, "Unbind the vast resources of our people and of the church, in compassion and justice and in generosity." That is the work we will do.

We need now to plan for the future, even as we live in these days. I want us to remember several things—three are very practical. The first is, this disease is not a Chinese virus, nor is it the fault of the elderly. They are not the cause of this disease; they are casualties. We need to be very careful to guard the dignity and the safety of those of the Asian community and also our elderly.

The second thing is, we really need to give thanks and pray for the health and safety of our healthcare workers, who are literally on the front lines. They're afraid they'll catch the disease and be separated from their families, that's true. Nevertheless they show up, day after day. And we should remember those other people who are considered essential resources: people who may be overlooked in our daily lives. People who do deliveries, who work in the sanitation department, even folks who are bagging our groceries at the grocery store. They're fulfilling their vocation.

And thirdly, we have to pay attention to the warnings and also the advice of medical professionals, scientists, and our local public officials. Sheltering in place seems the only way we have right now to slow this disease. Pay attention to them.

But more important than anything is that we have a God who is faithful and through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ has promised and has given us new life. Cling to that. Celebrate that. Peace, be well.

Capital Campaign Committee Report

Organ Project

As we all deal with the Covid-19 situation on a personal & public level, it has interfered with the completion of the organ project. Unfortunately organ repairs are not on the essential businesses allowed to work, so we are on hold for now.

We are very close to finalizing all work on the organ, after working through some differences in the original agreement which saved the church several thousand dollars. The vendor notified us that he has completed the revised scope of work. We have communicated several issues/concerns to the company and they have agreed to come back out and investigate our concerns as soon as he is allowed.

In the end we will have an upgraded organ that we will enjoy for years to come.

Sanctuary Flooring

The committee has been working behind the scenes for some time to research a qualified vendor and deciding on what work and areas to address. The committee recommended to Council: the vendor, type of flooring & carpet along with the removal of the east side choir loft to allow more main level floor area for special events. Council approved all of the committee recommendations. Fortunately this pandemic will allow us to move forward with the flooring with little interruption to weekly services.

During the work to remove the choir loft, we ran into some minor issues of electrical and sound system wiring that had to be relocated. Not to worry, we were able to do this with little cost and member labor. There will be some minor noticeable differences in the appearance of the sanctuary when we return to church. We are moving forward with this project. Yes, hopefully the flooring project will be complete by the time we are allowed to gather again.

Praying Together at Noon Each Day

Terri DeAngelis and Leslie Willet had a creative idea for how we can be the church together during this time: by praying together every day at noon, wherever we are. Here is a schedule for the daily topic or group of people for whom to pray, but feel free to pray for whomever the Holy Spirit brings to mind. Know that when you pause and carry your loved ones and the world before God, your sisters and brothers in Christ are joining with you, too.

Monday— For those who are lonely or isolated during sequestering, that they may experience Jesus’ presence with them. For guidance and inspiration about how we can be the presence of Jesus for one another.

Tuesday—Our city, state, and federal leaders and all political leaders and elected officials around the world, that they may make decisions that protect those under their care with wisdom and justice for all.

Wednesday—Healthcare workers, first responders, police officers, members of the armed services, all public servants, and “essential workers” who must continue to be exposed to risk, and their families.

Thursday—Those who are furloughed, unemployed, or without an income during this crisis, that God may provide for all of their needs.

Friday—The victims of the Covid 19 virus and their family, friends, and loved ones; and those most vulnerable around the world with no access to life-saving healthcare.

Saturday—Members of St. Paul Lutheran Church, past present and future, that God would guard and protect us all from harm and connect us in new ways to strengthen the bonds of love.

Sunday—Religious leaders of all faiths and denominations around the world, and our Synod leaders: Bishop Suzanne Dillahunt and Assistants Pastors Bob Abrams and Katie Kerrigan, that God may sustain them and guide them to equip the Church for such a time as this.

As a community of Christian believers, we are called by God to use the many gifts He has given us, within the church and the community, so others may come to know Him.

Director of Music Search

Our dedicated committee has met via phone and accomplished revising positions and organ descriptions. We will be posting on multiple relevant websites soon.

The Search Committee will be accepting resumes for organist, choir director or a combination known as the Director of Music.

The Search Committee will be sending a survey via email to you so the committee can receive your likes, dislikes and wishes for the music department. Please watch your email for this important email. (The survey is also printed on page 8 of this newsletter, so that you can fill it out on paper and mail it in if you prefer.)
